Tue detectives who undertook to capture the fugitive Judge Dawn of Alaska had to get up very early in the morning even to keep in sight of him.

SINCE the late engagement of Salvini in Hoston a society craze has broken out to learn Italian. Its victims will in time no doubt succeed in becoming as unfamiliar with the language as the great tragediau is

IT is said of Philadelphia that the school teachers there are paid less and more irregularly than in any other city of the country, and "poor pay, poor teach" is a natural consequence. It is time the Quaker city was moving up a little nearer front.

THE Toledo Ber has the audacious impudence to speak of the Jackson Democratic Association of Washington as "that body of old mosebacks." The association can do no less than retert with a resolution that the editor of the Ber is a Dem. Jack. Ass.

THE New York Times has come a little way into the field of illustrated journalism. and to-day, having borrowed one of the Daily Graphic's charts, showing the fluctuations of the stock market, prints it as "visible proof of the treachery of the Republican District leaders."

THE Creeks are in favor of a regular territorial organization for the Indian nation and will petition Congress to that effect. They have not yet reached the high grade of civilization which prevails in Dakota, or they would have started out with a couple of United States Senators.

"SOUTHERN REPRESENTATIVES," says the Philadelphia Press, "are to be congratulated upon the fact that not one of their number opposed the bill granting a pension to Mrs. Grant." Not at all. The Southern representative does not need to be congratulated because he is a gentleman.

This is the shortest day of the year, estimated by the duration of light. It is nine bours and twenty-three minutes between sunrise and sunset. The remaining fourteen hours and thirty-seven minutes of the day are supposed to be of the darkness that hobgoblus, night-owls and gas companies most delight in.

A CHERRUL table is going the rounds to show how much cheaper sugar, lard, coffee, flour, rice and various other articles of food are now, to what they were in 1870. It is not accompanied by a comparative table, showing the difference between that time and this in the purchasing power of the people. Cheap food is one thing, good

THE Philadelphia News says that the House of Representatives has been converting itself into a holiday mob for the glory of William R. Morrison. People here in Washington don't see it in exactly that light. It was, on the whole, a very goodnatured sort of a love-feast. Nobody is greatly glorified and nobody much hurt, that

A MAN has been arrested at Council Bluffs, Iowa, who announced that he was on his "in order to rid the country of Democrats." He evidently thinks that there are very few Democrats in the country, and as evidently does not believe, with some of the members of that party, that Cleveland is not a

MR. KEILEY's address at Ford's Operaexposition of the Irish question. Were a minister to be selected to represent us at the Court of Dublin, the President would have no difficulty in finding the proper man and there would be no nonsensical technicalities sprung against his reception. Nor is the dream of Ireland's independence any longer

SENATOR EVARTS may indulge in long sentences now and then, but he has a long head and a long memory. When in his speech on the Succession bill he asked if the framers of the Constitution would have been likely to leave such a loophele to the Presidency as that Senators could vacate it themselves, as for example by impeachment, and then fill it themselves, he doubtless remembered a memorable occasion in our history when as counsel for Andy Johnson he helped defeat a conspiracy to put Ben Wade into the White House.

SENATOR HAWLET of Connecticut was school to Mr. Joseph Patterson. When the Senator's father took his departure from the old North State, he left behind him an unpaid bill of $10 due Mr. Patterson for young Hawley's tuition. The other day Mr. Patterson sent the bill to Mr. Hawley and received in return a check for the ure, Mr. Hawley wrote. It certainly should have been paid in that spirit for that ten dollars' worth of tuition helped to make : first rate newspaper man and a very good

THE Indian is getting along in civilizafrom the country who puts up at a city botel and is next morning found dead in his bed. A sachem, rejoiding in the name of Yellow Bag, and one of the Comanche bosses, went to Fort Worth, Texas, last Saturday, to buy some Christmas presents for his people. He indulged pretty freely in that fluid which history tells us was firs given to the aborigines by Hendrick Hud the Pickwick Hotel. Yesterday afternoo he was found dead from asphyxia. Like the gentleman from the country, he had blown out the gas.

THE REPUBLICANS and Democrats for New York alike think that no better appointment could have been made than that of the Hon. John Bigelow as assistant treasurer in that city. They also agree that Mr. Acton, whom Mr. Bigelow succeeds, is a very excellent gentleman, having nothing of the offensive partisan about him, and tha he has been a very efficient officer. But not any further than this do the New York Democrats and Republicans continue in the same way of thinking. The latter say that Mr. Acton's case was similar to that of Mr. Pearson, who was reappointed postmaster, and that to carry out his record and be conditent, President Cleveland should have entimed Mr. Acton in office. The Demo crais, however, do not lay much stress on the inconsistency business. They say that the great mistake made was in the reap-pointment of Mr. Pearson.

Soun of the ministers in the North are emplaining that the attractive Sanday editions of the newspapers keep people from the church. In this they admit that he newspapers are more luteresting than hey are. The ministers must wake up they will never have the numerous constitu ency they ought to have as long as they allow their esteemed contemporaries to get

A Good One on Himself. Congressman Davenport tells the New York Tribune this story about his experience at the Gilsey House on his arrival there last week; "I didn't say anything about what kind of a room I wanted, but sent my belongings up-stairs by a boy and followed at my leisure. I opened the door of my room and stepped into a parlor haif as large as the lobby of the hotel. I wantered agrees and opened aparts for some as large as the loosy of the note. I wan-dered scross and opened another door and found myself in a bedroom nearly as large. A door to this led into a capacions bath room and another door to a second bedroom. Off the second bedroom was another bath room and a small room like a sitting room. I went down stairs and told them they had made a mistake—that it was the other fellow who was elected Governor, and that I guessed I could get along with a single room and hath room. I can't afford to be rated higher than a Congressman if that is the way they treat Governors."

On that eccasion Miss Rolland acted as the proselyte's godmother. According to the rules of the Church, which are strictly observed, a man cannot marry his godmother. THE SONG OF THE SEA WIND.

How it sings, sings, sings,

Ricoving sharply from the sea-line,
With an edge of sait that stings;
How it hughs about, and passes,
As it outs the close cliff-grasses;
How it sings again and whisties,
How it shakes the stout saa-thisties—
How it shakes the stout saa-thisties—

How it shricks, shricks shricks
In the cramics of the headland,
In the gashes of the creeks;
How it shricks once more, and catches
Up the yellow from it patches;
How it whirls it out and over
To the corn-field and the clover—
How it shricks:

How it roars, roars, roars,
In the iron under-caverns,
In the hollows of the shores;
How it roars anew, and thunders,
As the strong hull splits and sunders;
And the spent ship, temptest driven,
On the reof lies rent and riven—
How it roars!

How it wills, walls, walls,
In the tangle of the wreckage,
In the flapping of the salls,
How it sobs away, subsiding,
Like a tired child after chiding;
And across the ground swell rolling.
You can hear the bell-huny folling—
How it walls;
